THIRD SPIRITUAL WORK OF MERCY -

To admonish sinners

We see a beautiful example of Jesus' treatment of sin when the 'adulterous woman' is brought before him by an accusing crowd. Surprisingly, it is the sin of the crowd's harsh judgement that Jesus admonishes the most when he asks them which of them is without sin. In fact Jesus is very gentle with the woman in front of him as he dispels her condemnation, simply saying to her: 'Go and sin no more' [John 8:11]. We too are asked to call others to the new life that Christ is offering and to leave behind the old ways of sin. To admonish others like this becomes a work of mercy when it is done in love. Like Christ, we are not called to condemn but to encourage others to believe in the infinite mercy of God.
